

Ethical issues in COVID-19 pandemic

Short biography

Asako Matsushima is a professor of Department of Emergency and Critical Care at Nagoya City University. Her work focuses specifically on the sepsis and septic shock, and she contributed to develop The Japanese Clinical Practice Guidelines for Management of Sepsis and Septic Shock 2020. She has a strong belief to prevent a victim of sepsis, and works as a member of Japanese Sepsis Alliance since its establishment.