

Eljim P. Tesoro is a Clinical Associate Professor in the College of Pharmacy at the University of Illinois at Chicago and a clinical pharmacist in Neurosciences/Critical Care at the University of Illinois Hospital & Health Sciences System. He received his Pharm.D. from the University of California at San Francisco and completed a Pharmacy Practice Residency at the University of Illinois at Chicago before pursuing a two-year clinical fellowship in Critical Care at the Virginia Commonwealth University/Medical College of Virginia Campus. He currently serves as Director of the PGY2 Residency in Critical Care and is actively involved in residency training and education. He has authored numerous articles and several textbook chapters and has lectured locally and internationally on neurocritical care pharmacotherapy. He is a member of the Society of Critical Care Medicine, the Neurocritical Care Society, and the American Society of Health-Systems Pharmacists. He is board-certified as a Critical Care Pharmacist and trained in Advanced Cardiac Life Support and Emergency Neurological Life Support. He is a Fellow of the Neurocritical Care Society and the American College of Critical Care Medicine and currently sits on the Board of Directors of the Neurocritical Care Society.